2 POWER SERVICE COST RECOVERY

The cost to supply power to the customer from the energy source to your home and will fluctuate based on consumption and market conditions. The Power Service Cost Recovery (PSCR) is a pass-through cost. TCLP does not profit from this charge.

Customers can expect to see fluctuations due to the changing market conditions. The higher the cost to supply power (i.e. increase in natural gas prices), the higher the PSC.

Customers can lessen the impact by using less energy in their homes, including turning off lights and unplugging outlets after use.
